

Pat Galante is a veteran of the New York comedy scene. Her diverse background including bilingual capability, unique perspective on life and sharp writing are the reasons that she has consistently appeared on every stage in New York City.

She has performed in comedy festivals around the country including the New York Underground Comedy Festival (one of 10 finalists in the Emerging Comics Contest), Women in Comedy Festival, Boston, HA! Comedy Fest, Trial by Laughter, Indianapolis.

Pat's acting career includes acceptance into ONE, A Festival of One Act Plays for her woman show, The Gimme Hole. Pat's solo work also includes Some of My Parts (Timeout NY Critic's Pick), Downpour, From the Inside Out. Her Ensemble work includes performances in Hyperion Theatre Project's Fall One Acts, HERE (The American Living Room Series), The Tower at Princeton University's McCarter Theater and Henry Street Settlement.

Work with Children and Adolescents includes "You Make The Call", a children's improvisational workshop at the Henry Street Settlement and Directions for Our Youth's high school program.

You may have also seen Pat on television on One Life to Live, Law and Order, SiTV. Some of her television and radio commercials include Boars Head, McDonald's Chase Bank, U.S. Postal Service.

Pat is a Contributor to The Complete Idiot's Guide to Jokes (Alpha/Penguin).